

Lux et veritas — light and truth.

More than the motto of Sean's alma mater, Yale University, these words also represent Sean's ability to understand the cultural nuances of client organizations and creatively design impactful and engaging leadership development solutions.

Sean's early leadership accomplishments occurred post-Yale, as a United States Air Force F-16 fighter pilot. After completing military service, Sean applied his leadership experience to the airline industry as a commercial pilot. Ultimately, his passion for leadership development inspired him to join Lead Star.

Whether facilitating a team session, giving a keynote address, or conducting a workshop, Sean delivers actionable, practical, and engaging content. Sean works with CEOs, executive teams, and frontline managers to help clients achieve exceptional results and lasting change. Sean's also the New York Times and USA Today best-selling author of SPARK: How to Lead Yourself and Others to Greater Success.

Sean's clients span a broad range of industries including oilfield services, power generation, transportation, and medicine. He lives with his family in lovely Bradenton, Florida.

ENDORSEMENTS

"I wanted to send you a note to express my appreciation for the quality program you and your team shared with Cummins Power Systems this week. I personally found the leadership training material on point and relevant; for me it was two days of continual learning about myself as well as opportunities to improve. You were an excellent instructor and made the class enjoyable."

Ronald S. Merkel Jr.
Cummins Power Systems
Executive Director, Industrial Sales

"The training was a valuable experience and learning for many of the participants. We appreciated your support, expertise, and professionalism during the week. Thanks again and looking forward to working together with Lead Star in the future."
